Digital product passport and its benefits in TCLF

In the times we live in, a digital product passport (DPP) is becoming increasingly necessary in our quest for a more sustainable future. It contains comprehensive product information:

- * Product composition
- * Product process
- * Consumer information, concerning its use, maintenance and warranty
- * Recycling and upcycling options
- * Full information on the supply chain and possible repairs

Benefits of DPP

- Sustainability and waste reduction
- Transparency in trade and supply chains
- Improving product safety and quality
- Better maintenance and extended product life
- Compliance with regulations
- Wise management of resources
- Improves customer loyalty and engagement

All this makes DPP indispensable in the field of sustainability!!
